AN HISTORICAL SKETCH.

"A meeting was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, the 24th of November, 1879, for the purpose of organizing a Mechanics' Institute in Lind say, the mayor (Colonel Deacon) occupying the chair, Mr. Flavelle acting secretary pro tem.

"Mr. J. B. Dixon briefly explained the conditions necessary for the incorpora tion of an Institute and the objects; also the necessary amount to be secured to enable it to get the annual government grant, and other matters of detail.

"Moved by Mr. J. B. Dixon, seconded by Mr. J. Neelands, that we form ourselves into a Mechanics' Institute and Literary Association, to be called 'The Lindsay Mechanics' Institute and Literary Association.'

On motions by Messrs. F. C. Taylor and Thos. Beall, and Messrs. Thos. Beall and McMurtry, the following were elected officers :

President, L. Maguire, Esq.

First Vice-President, A. O'Leary, Esq.

Second Vice President, W. McBurney, Esq.

Secretary Treasurer, J. B. Dixon, Esq.

Directors : Messrs. Ingle, Russell, Neelands, Irwin, Taylor, Devlin, Mc Neillie, Reeves, Thos. Beall.

So run the minutes of that first meeting. The Mechanics' Institute and Literary Association has been an institution of the town of Lindsay during the past twenty years. It has had its ups and downs like most human institutions. At first the membership was not large, but was decidedly liberal in time and money and a great deal of self sacrificing labor was bestowed upon the founding and early working of the Library. Fortunately this zealous labor of love has never ceased, and owing to this fact the Library has come through its troubles in safety and gives promise now of becoming a worthy feature of this town and county.

In 1895 the name was changed by statute to the Lindsay Public Library.

In 1899, the citizens voted to make it a free library, and on March 22, 1899, it was opened as a free library to the town of Lindsay and the county of Victoria.
